

‘Helmet Head’

An ancient helmeted head looks out onto the Broughtonknowe Hill Fort.

'Helmet Head' sculpture by Stan Wilson symbolising the area's rich archeological past. The 'head' looks onto an early Iron Age hill fort. If you look beyond Broughton you can also make out another such 'fort' on the Dreva Road. There are a number of burial 'barrows' adjacent to the woodland - a further remnant of the community long before us that also cherished the Broughtonknowe environs.

This is all commemorated by Stan's donated sculpture.

Thank you Stan.
